The Building of Keswick

by Dr Alan Smith

Yew Tree Hall, High Lorton, on Thursday 12th January at 7.30pm

Dr. Alan Smith has written a number of papers, books and guides on Lakeland Geology. He is a past President of Cumberland Geological Society and Keswick Natural History Society. The talk will describe how and when Keswick was built, as well as how the buildings were influenced by local history and the availability of nearby materials.

Visitors are welcome to this event at £2.50 including refreshments

Next talk on Thursday 8th March when Alistair Robertson will speak on 'The History of Alston Moor'
